DuPont™
CORIAN®
 SOLID SURFACES

Dr. Chang's Clinic, Taipei, Taiwan
 Michael Young, Designer, Taipei

ISSUES

- ◆ Designing a healthcare facility that is warm and inviting, yet modern and sleek.
- ◆ Creating a temple to female beauty that is completely unique.
- ◆ Building a functional, well-designed environment that withstands daily wear and tear and is easy to clean.

CHALLENGES

- ◆ Choosing a durable, practical surface that offers versatility in many applications such as walls, wall rails, doors, door frames, thresholds, base cove and a 20-foot long reception table.
- ◆ Finding a material that can be fabricated into many different shapes, textures and applications.
- ◆ Identifying a translucent wall cladding product that will allow for the planned 3-D backlit design.

SOLUTIONS

- ◆ The translucency of Corian® created a spectacular effect in the backlit walls of the reception area where a custom Computer Numeric Controlled pattern was routed into the surface.
- ◆ Corian® is durable and can be easily and repeatedly washed and disinfected with no worry of deterioration in critical applications such as the operating room walls.
- ◆ Corian® adds beauty in a broad range of healthcare applications that need to withstand daily traffic.

BENEFITS

- ◆ Corian® surfaces meet virtually any size requirements and can be carved, backlit and thermoformed into most any design – offering flexibility unmatched by any other surface material.
- ◆ Corian® is easy to clean and nonporous – making it resistant to the growth of mold, mildew or bacteria.
- ◆ Corian® is renewable and easy to repair. It stays looking as beautiful as the day it was installed.
