ISSUES

- ◆ Building a comfortable hospital environment for both patients and staff, with a dual focus on healing and functionality.
- ◆ Choosing the right surfacing solution to meet the cleanliness, design and durability needs of the building.
- ◆ Designing a state-of-the-art facility that incorporates cost-effective materials in patient rooms, hallways, waiting rooms, staff workstations and a cafeteria.

CHALLENGES

- ◆ Selecting surfaces that withstand daily wear and tear, as well as provide plentiful color choices and aesthetics to achieve design excellence.
- ◆ Securing materials that offer design versatility, including a seamless appearance in applications such as multi-tiered nurse stations.
- ◆ Specifying nonporous surfaces that meet commercial building standards for infection control, fire safety and food preparation.

SOLUTIONS

- ◆ Corian® surfaces can be fabricated into most any design including seamless sinks, wall cladding, furniture, lighting fixtures, signage and reception desks.
- ◆ Corian® and Zodiaq® are nonporous and do not support the growth of mold, mildew or bacteria. Both surfaces can be easily and repeatedly washed and disinfected with no deterioration.
- ◆ Corian® and Zodiaq® are NSF/ANSI 51 Certified for food contact and Class 1 (A) fire rated according to ASTM E84.

BENEFITS

- ◆ Corian® and Zodiaq® resist chips, scratches, cracks, heat and stains. They are durable, practical surfaces that help prevent costly hospital maintenance in high traffic areas.
- ◆ Corian® is available in more than 110 colors—more than any other solid surface—and a wide selection of aesthetics.
- ◆ Zodiaq® is available in more than 30 colors and coordinates easily with other popular materials including chrome, brass, stainless steel, wood, glass, tile and Corian® solid surfaces.
